

Giacomo Strapazzon – Curriculum Vitae

Giacomo Strapazzon MD, born in Sandrigo / Italy, October 21st, 1979; Medical Doctor 110/110 cum laude at the University of Padova, Italy, 2004; Specialist in Internal Medicine 70/70 cum laude at the University of Padova, Italy, 2010; UIAA-diploma of Mountain Medicine, 2006; attending at PhD of Biomedicine at the University of Padova, since 2010. Erasmus Exchange student at the University of Oulu, Finland, 2003-2004; Mountain rescue physician of the Mountain and Cave Rescue Organization of Italy, since 2005; Member for the of Italian Mountain and Cave Rescue at the International Commission of Mountain Emergency Medicine ICAR MEDCOM, since 2010; Medical Doctor at Ev-K2-CNR Pyramid, Kumbu valley, Nepal, 2007; Member of the Italian Society of Mountain Medicine, since 2007; Member of the Geographical Exploration Association “La Venta”, since 2010. Author of peer review scientific papers about hypothermia, mountain sickness, hypertension and its cardiovascular and metabolic complications, vitamin D metabolism. Main speaker and relator at international and national congresses and courses. Co-investigator in clinical trials. Degree prize of Italian Hypertension Society, 2005. Guest lecturer University of Barcelona, Spain, since 2011; Guest lecturer University of Padova, Italy, since 2011, Guest lecturer University of Insubria, Italy, since 2011 . Scientific researcher and vice head of the Institute of Mountain Emergency medicine at the European Academy EURAC Bolzano, Italy, since 2010.

Main field of research

Mountain emergency medicine

Cardiovascular emergencies

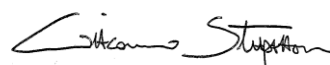

Cold injuries

Biomedicine

Altitude and patients with previous pathologies

Date

Bolzano, 20 January 2012

Giacomo Strapazzon